Spanish and English 101 Courses To Be Offered In Snowmass

Last year, for the first time, the traditional 101 given at the Summer Conference was presented in two languages — French and English. This year, carrying on with the expanded tradition, two courses will again be presented — this time in Spanish and English. This new tradition highlights the importance of ITAA responding to the world-wide need for TA information in languages other than English. Last year the response was one of excitement and enthusiasm for the French 101 and we look forward to another special experience with this year's Spanish course.

As with any course, the nature of the learning experience is determined, to a significant degree, by the teacher and his or her ability to relate to the class participants. We are therefore very gratified to announce that this year's 101 instructors are of the highest caliber. The English course will be led by Bill Ballard and the Spanish 101 will be team-taught by Adriana Arzac and Gloria Balbona. Each has volunteered his or her time and energy to provide an outstanding 101 experience for those attending the Snowmass conference.

Originally from Mexico City, Adriana has been living in Texas for the last eight years. She is a clinical psychologist and is working on her Doctorate in Public Health at the University of Texas in Houston. She has done psychotherapy, consultation and training in both Mexico and the US. Adriana is interested in Community Mental Health, particularly as it relates to the hispanic population in this country. She has been studying Mexican folk-healing beliefs and methods with a curandera in San Antonio, TX. Adriana has one daughter.

Adriana Arzac

A gradutate of the University of California, Bill has an MBA and is a Special Fields Provisional Teaching Member of ITAA. He is the Vice-president of Training for the Prudential Insurance Company of America. As a new resident of New York City, Bill is enjoying all the sights and things of interest there. He likes photography, dancing, racket ball and making new friends.

Bill Ballard

Gloria is a Special Fields Provisional Teaching Member in ITAA. She has studied in Paris at the University of Paris and in Mexico at the University of the Americas in Mexico City. Currently she is a consultant in Human Relations and the Director of ASCENDA, A.P. She has done courses in TA for Mexican government agencies and for private industry. She is a TA trainer with twenty trainees under contract. Gloria also loves acting and dancing.

The content of the 101 courses will be primarily didactic and will follow the course outline approved by ITAA. This includes historical and philosophical perspectives as well as theoretical presentations of all the basic TA concepts, including ego stages, stroke theory, scripts, time structuring, life positions, games, rackets, etc. It will be of special interest both to those who seek to apply TA clinically and to those who are interested in special field applications of TA to management, education, religion and other creative areas of human services. The courses will also be of interest to those members who teach 101s or wish to in the future since they offer fine examples of how a 101 can be given and, in the case of the Spanish course, how TA can be translated into another language and culture.

The courses are designed to offer an excellent opportunity for beginners in TA to learn the basic concepts and terms and for others to refresh their understanding of TA. For first-time conference attendees, the 101 course is a valuable introduction to the workshops and other activities presented during the week.

Gloria Balbona

The ITAA extends a cordial invitation to all, especially "newcomers" and Spanish speakers, to these exciting 101 courses. They will be presented in Snowmass, Colorado on August 6th and 7th, just prior to the conference. The fee for the course is $75 and registration forms can be found in the Program Book (mailed in mid-April) or from the ITAA office, 1772 Vallejo St., San Francisco, CA 94123. We hope to see many of you there!

Strokes for Board, President and Executive Director

Dear Script:

I would like to express my highest respect for the way the Board of Trustees, President McClendon and Executive Director Bob Andersen conducted themselves during these past trying, long months. From out here, it seemed like serious Games were going on, and it also seemed like they stayed relatively Game-free. My congratulations and admiration to ITAA for their steadiness, professionalism and high sense of responsibility.

Sincerely,
Art Greer

Strokes to the TAJ

Dear Script:

Eric Berne quipped that anything written in scientific literature or said to a client in treatment should be understandable by at least two people — the first is the professor of symbolic logic at MIT (whom Berne exemplified as the most intelligent person in the world), and the second is a farmer from Minnesota with a third-grade education.

With this concept in mind, recent articles in the TAJ prompted us to begin an article which would have been entitled, "The Effects of Making Progress Towards a Theory of Moving Away From the Impact of Simple Communicative Terminology in a Professional Health Care Organization's Quarterly Periodical."

The January, 1979 TAJ, with its beautifully written and simply titled articles, makes our planned article unnecessary. Big strokes are due the Editorial Committee for keeping up with the membership's needs in a way all of us find understandable.

Sincerely,
Ronald Lawrence, CMT
John Thibodeau, ARM

"Professionalism" in the ITAA

Dear Editor:

To me, "professionalism" has meant the caliber, ethics and effectiveness of the practitioner. It seems to me that it has been misdefined in ITAA to functionally mean the discouraging and eliminating of the training of paraprofessionals and non-professionals, their admission to ITAA as certified members, and the turning of ITAA into an elite, small organization of 1,000 licensed mental health professionals with a high dues structure.

Talk at Training Standards Committee meetings, and elsewhere, is of phasing out (in-house CM and SFM) credentialling and letting the unlicensed, ministers, educators, special fields and other members, find their own way or establish a separate organization, possibly affiliated with ITAA.

The opposite pole of "professionalism" is the position held by those like myself who favor the widespread use of TA, training of professionals and non-professionals as therapists and agents for social change, and who believe that the field of mental health in the US is a disaster area and not to be left to the professionals alone.

ITAA official figures (600 total CM and SFM candidates, and, for the US, 114 TMs and 195 PTMs) indicates to me that ITAA is, in fact, becoming a "professional" organization and that quite a few TMs and PTMs have gone out of the field of candidate training. Also, since 1975, some 80-90 PTMs have returned to CM/SFM status.

Those favoring "professionalism" are, I believe, organized, dedicated, and hold positions of responsibility in ITAA. However, if ITAA is to grow, . . . accommodations must be worked out that meet both factions' needs/wants, rather than the on-going underground tug-of-war between the factions holding different philosophies.

These issues need to be aired. Please express your opinion by writing to the Editor of the Script.

Grace Wilson, RM

Written Exam Criticized

Dear Editor:

In my experience, the manner in which those espousing "professionalism" are raising our standards seems to be discouraging the very people they hope to attract.

Licensed MSWs, psychologists and psychiatrists do not need ITAA credentials and are not strongly motivated to cram for the written.

I am in favor of high standards, yet I fail to see how the written exam determines a candidate's therapeutic or special fields abilities. To my knowledge, no correlation, validity or reliability studies have ever been made.

We have spent $91,000, and recouped by charging from clinical and special fields candidates $71,000 (plus their time, travel and aggravation), developing and administering a meaningless test. Everyone familiar with test construction knows a test can be designed to pass a certain percentage of examinees, regardless of the level of skills or knowledge the examinee has. I do not claim that TSC did this deliberately. However, the guidelines for cut-off scores established in August, 1975 have resulted in a high fail ratio as compared to the NASW's ACSW test which has a pass history of 90%.

Here is the official exam pass/defer history:

Exam Dates	Passed	Deferred	Total
January 1976	136	47	183
May 1976	192	81	273
January 1977	165	64	229
June 1977	181	52	233
January 1978	84	19	103
June 1978	98	37	135

Approximately 35 candidates have retaken the exam two or three times before passing, while 50 candidates have not yet retaken the exam.

The written exam fails 33% of those taking the exam for the first time. Totals: 1126 took the exam, 300 failed; 215 retook the exam and passed; (about) 20 retook twice and passed, and (about) 15 retook a third time and passed. Only 526 took the exam the first time and passed, out of 826 . . . 67%.

As a Trustee of ITAA, I can find nowhere in the Training Standards Committee reports or in the Board of Trustees minutes that either authorized this high a fail ratio.

I have heard candidates report that many of the questions were picayune and some covered material that was not TA theory or therapy.

Please write to me and give me your views on this subject. If the consensus is that I am wrong, I certainly don't want to raise the issue of the high fail ratio at the next Trustee's meeting.

Shepard Gellert
Member, Board of Trustees

Dear Shep:

The costs and statistics you quote for the written exam are accurate. Your interpretation of those statistics and your understanding of the purpose and policies of the written exam are not; and I strongly question your tying the reduction of the ITAA membership to these statistics. I offer the following information and clarification for the consideration of those who read your letter.

The purpose of the written exam is to establish that CM and SFM candidates have a basic knowledge of theory in TA and related fields. This is clearly outlined in the ITAA Training Manual. It has never been the purpose of the written exam to determine applied clinical or special fields skills. That is, instead, the purpose of the oral exam.

The written exam was not constructed to fail or pass a certain percentage of candidates. Instead, a complex process of item analysis and reliability and validity studies have been used to determine cut-off scores each time the exam is given. Rather than concluding that the exam is unfair, meaningless or constructed to fail a certain percentage of candidates, it is equally valid to question whether candidates taking the exam have been adequately prepared.

The policy of charging exam fees to CM and SFM candidates for the cost of developing and administering the exam was established in lieu of charging the entire membership, expecially the Regular Members, for a service they were not using. It is surely reasonable to charge direct costs for administering, scoring and reporting results to the candidates taking the exam.

There are, to be sure, pitfalls in using standardized examinations. There are also specific concerns about the written exam which the TSC and the Written Exam Sub-committee are aware. Steps being taken to address these problems include negotiating for a new testing service to reduce costs and updating and revising the exam.

Rather than focusing on the written exam in regards to loss of membership and professionalism, I think the larger issue of whether ITAA intends to be a credentialling organization needs to be addressed. I look forward to doing that in August at the Board of Trustees and Business Meetings in Snowmass.

Marilyn Zalcman
Co-chairperson, Written Exam Sub-committee

Keeping in Touch

"Toward a New Image of Aging" is the theme of a conference to be held by the Association for Humanistic Gerontology from July 27-29, 1979 in San Rafael, CA. The focus will be on old age as a positive, healthy, socially useful life stage and on creative programs for the elderly. For more information, contact AHG, 1711 Solano Ave., Berkeley, CA 94707.

Committee Update — the following people were inadvertently left off the list of Training Standards Committee members: Lynne Borden, Bill Cornell, Birger Gooss, Ken Mellor, Florence Olivier, Michael Reddy, Shea Schiff, Richard Underhill and Saroj Welch.

What Constitutes Cure? — Special Edition of the TAJ — Guest Editor John McNeel requests that articles intended for this issue be designated clearly as submissions for the April, 1980 issue. The deadline is September 1, 1979. For more information, see the June, 1979 Script.

Jim Morrison, SFT, co-author of "Practical Transactional Analysis in Management," presented a workshop at the Institute of Transactional Analysis Annual Conference in Birmingham, England on "TA and Conflict Management" (expanding on his article in the July, 1978 TAJ).

Len Campos recently gave a workshop for 22 therapists-in-training at the Instituto de Crecimiento Experiencial (directed by Nelson Villoria, PTM) in Caracas, Venezuela on the application of his unique integration of TA and Gestalt Therapy. Doing TA in Spanish is a challenge, but Len says he's almost Venezolano now!

INTERNATIONAL TRANSACTIONAL ANALYSIS ASSOCIATION

The International Transactional Analysis Association (1772 Vallejo Street, San Francisco, CA 94123) is a non profit, educational corporation of more than 8,500 members, from 40 countries around the world. Its purpose is to serve the membership and others in the application and development of transactional analysis (TA), originated by Eric Berne, M.D.

In the late 1950s and throughout the 60s, Dr. Berne and his colleagues developed TA as a comprehensive system for group and individual psychotherapy, for personal growth and behavior change and for the improvement of human relations generally. The ITAA, founded in 1964 as an out-growth of Dr. Berne's weekly San Francisco Social Psychiatry Seminars, includes clinicians in all of the psychotherapeutic and counseling arts and professionals from many other fields, including business, education, religion and health care, which we designate as Special fileds.

Membership levels range from Associate Regular Member (successful completion of the TA 101 exam—basic concepts of TA—is a prerequisite) through Certified Members (members who have completed additional training and who have passed extensive examinations in Clinical and/or Special Fields application). Certified Teaching Members have authorization to train and supervise Certified Member candidates.

Please direct any questions regarding membership to the ITAA office.

FROM THE TA BOOK CLUB

TA Book Club editions are available only to ITAA members. Others must order the regular edition at the list price.

CHANGING LIVES THROUGH REDECISION THERAPY. Mary and Bob Goulding. The second book by the Gouldings contains all new material elucidating redecision therapy. Publication date May 1979.
Book Club $12.95
List $15.00

THE SACRED COWS ARE DYING. Art Greer. Exploding the myths we try to live by.
List $6.95
Book Club $5.95

TA AFTER ERIC BERNE. Graham Barnes. (ed.) Documents the major developments that have occurred since Berne's death. Leaders of the Classic, Cathexis and Redecision schools explain their approaches. Other authors reveal how they synthesize and apply these teachings. An outstanding sourcebook for contemporary TA theory.
Cloth Book Club $12.50
List $15.95

WEIGHT LOSS FOR EVERYONE THE TA WAY. Frank J. Bruno. Weight watchers should be able to get at the heart of their overeating problem through a serious reading of this book. Bruno's thrust is toward freeing the overweight reader from "scripts" that lead him or her to overeating for "strokes." Helpful for weight loss workshops.
Cloth Book Club $6.95
List $8.95

NEW TA BOOKS

BODYSCRIPT BLOCKBUSTING: A Transactional Approach to Body Awareness. Elaine Childs-Gowell and Phil Kinnaman. From beginning to end, our bodies are the vehicle for life experiences. Yet, despite the central role our bodies play in our lives, most of us lose touch with them as we grow up. This handbook is all about regaining contact with our body-sense. Exercise positions are illustrated. P $3.00

BODYSCRIPTS: Collected Papers on Physical Aspects of Transactional Analysis. Joseph Cassius. Relates TA to body therapies and movement theories. P $12.95

DE-GAMING TEACHING AND LEARNING: HOW TO MOTIVATE LEARNERS AND INVITE OKness. Dr. Richard John Stapleton. "A clear exposition of a major new use of Transactional Analysis. The book is written in a clear usable manner that will be directly usable by educators." —Martin G. Groder P $12.50

THE FUZZY FREQUENCY. Pamela Levin Landheer. Illustrations by Sunny Mehler. This is about ways we invite each other to feel good, to be happy healthy, contented, and to feel OK about ourselves. It contains a basic education in Fuzzy messages. Kids of any age will love to color these pages and pick their favorite Fuzzies, but this isn't just for children. From birth on, we all need an adequate diet of positive messages. P $3.95

HELLO SIGMUND, THIS IS ERIC: Psychoanalysis and T.A. in Dialogue. Louis H. Forman, M.D. and Janelle Smith Ramsburg, R.N., M.S.W. Two psychoanalytically trained therapists provide the first bridge between Freudian psychoanalysis and Eric Berne's transactional analysis in this historic, groundbreaking work. P $5.95

INTERNAL DIALOGUES OF ARCHAIC INTRAPSYCHIC SYMBIOTIC SYSTEMS. Helen Beard Corson. P $3.00

THE POWER IS IN THE PATIENT. Bob and Mary Goulding. This book will be especially useful for the psychotherapists who want to know precisely what the Gouldings do in their work with clients. In chronological order, the chapters describe the development of the Western Institute's unique combination of TA, Gestalt, desensitization, and other techniques. Bob and Mary tell in plain English what they do to get no-suicide contracts, break through impasses, expose games, treat phobias, promote redecisions, and reinforce self-cures. P $9.95

SELF-ESTEEM: A FAMILY AFFAIR. Jean Illsley Clarke. Based on the premise that children's needs are met best by grown-ups whose needs are met, this practical book uses TA techniques to provide tools for both parents and children to feel good about being themselves. P $6.95

TAABS: Abstracts of Eric Berne Memorial Award Winners and Nominees. June Ellis. Presents concise abstracts of articles nominated for the Eric Berne Scientific Award from 1971 through 1977. P $3.25

TRANSACTIONAL ANALYSIS. Stan Woollams and Michael Brown. New from Huron Valley Institute. TRANSACTIONAL ANALYSIS brings together all the major aspects of TA theory and practice in one comprehensive text. A valuable sourcebook for practicing clinicians, a must for students and trainees, and a welcome asset to anyone who wishes to use its wealth of information for self-understanding and personal growth.
(No discount) H $15.00

TRANSACTIONAL ANALYSIS RESEARCH: A REVIEW OF EMPIRICAL STUDIES AND TESTS. Judy Carter McClenaghan, Ph.D. Specifically for TA research-oriented persons, this monograph provides a summary of the empirical research conducted on the effectiveness of TA in workshops, therapeutic practice, and consulting. In addition, McClenaghan reviews psychometric instruments based on TA and provides a complete listing of fifty-five research studies on TA found in DISSERTAION ABSTRACTS INTERNATIONAL.
69 pgs. $10.00

TRANSACTIONAL AWARENESS: Now I've Got You in Business. J. Allyn Bradford and Reuben Guberman. Applies the basic concepts of TA to the interpersonal communicating strategies of the business environment. Fifteen playlets present common communication disasters and examine the improvements achieved through TA principles.
(No discount) P $7.95

THE TRAP OF LARGE ORGANIZATIONAL PARTICIPATION. Alan Jacobs. Alan Jacobs' pamphlet "The Trap of Large Organizational Participation" is, in my opinion "must" reading for ITAA members, particularly advanced members who are concerned with their professional and ethical responsibility to ITAA, the public at large, and their own value system. —Fanita English P $3.00

US: MARRIED, LIVING TOGETHER, FAMILY, AND FRIENDS. Jim McKenna. This primer presents new ways to apply TA, Psychosynthesis, and Gestalt to increase creativity, awareness, and choices in relationships. P $1.95

Special Note

In my note to the membership (Script, April 1979) regarding a recent letter from Cathexis Institute to some ITAA members, it was not my intention to say that Cathexis intended to cause confusion, but only that, in fact, that was what happened. I am still open to having people contact me if they want clarification.

Scholarships Available For Volunteers

Volunteers are needed for the ITAA Summer Conference in Snowmass to assist at the Registration-information desk, host in the Hospitality Room, staff the Stroke Room, type committee reports, work in the bookstore, "go for" at the Board of Trustees meetings and the Business meeting, and generally help out delivering messages, checking equipment, etc.

In return for working as a volunteer person, the ITAA would like to show its appreciation by giving free registration to the conference.

All volunteer staff must attend a training/orientation meeting prior to serving as a volunteer, either Sunday, August 5 at 4pm or on Wednesday, August 8 at 3pm.

Registration entitles a person to attend all general sessions, papers, panels and the Thursday night dance. Workshop, BBQ, rodeo and banquet tickets are not included, but can be purchased separately.

Scholarship recipients will be selected on the basis of the times they are available and their skills.

If you are interested, complete the application below and return to Marianne Fracticelli, c/o ITAA office by June 15, 1979. You will be notified promptly.

FOR PROFESSIONALS AND LAY PEOPLE

We saw the human potential movement germinate and grow from seed and green shoot to a full and blossomy plant. We saw ourselves attend workshops, expand and learn new ways of being. We saw ourselves change and we saw areas in which we did not change. It was a period of excitement and we thought it would go on forever.

The world too was moving along. The world context for our idealistic subculture was the same one that produced the economic and political realities of the Vietnam war and recession. And these realities were followed by such equally distressing issues as the energy crisis, environmental pollution, and the threat of another war in the Middle East. We are, accordingly, either more acutely conscious of ourselves and the world than ever before, or we are numb. Certainly we've lost some of the idealism we knew.

Our Institute has continued to change, in keeping with the times and the changing needs of people. More of our energies have been channeled into an educational program that leads to graduate degrees. In addition to the satisfaction of personal and interpersonal goals, people today are seeking experiences that will teach them skills and gain them recognition for their acquired knowledge. We are confronted with the reality that the workshop experiences that people have been enjoying for the last decade may soon become a thing of the past.

At the San Diego Institute for Transactional Analysis we will continue to provide the same high quality training that has become our hallmark. In addition to our educational degree program we believe we have an excellent product in our Life Script Training Workshop. Weekly letters from participants attest to the quality and potency of this training workshop.

Many of you have said, "Some day I would like to take a Life Script Training Workshop with Hedges Capers." Why put it off any longer?

Life Script Training Workshop for Summer 1979
July 19-August 8

We are growing and changing in an attempt to keep up with the wants and needs of the people we meet and work with. We are making every effort to direct our energies toward developing programs that will be responsive to these changes.
