New Officers and Trustees Take Office in Orlando

In addition to ITAA President Lucy Freedman (December 1985 Script), three new officers and eight new trustees took office in January during the Winter Congress in Orlando. The following acceptance statements from the Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and trustees highlight some of the priorities and concerns these members have as they begin their terms of office.

Marilyn Zalcman, MSW
Vice-President
MacLean, Virginia, USA

As I look ahead to serving ITAA as Vice-President, I am delighted by the opportunities all of us have to strengthen ourselves and our TA associations — i.e., our organizational, professional, and personal connections with one another. We have an incredible wealth of resources and a growing, viable international network with which to meet the exciting challenges ahead of us. With our collective knowledge, talents, and energy, I believe we can find exciting ways to restructure ITAA, further develop TA theory and practice, and reach out to other professional groups.

I will actively support the continuing internationalization of ITAA and the coordination of efforts among local, regional, and intercontinental TA associations. I believe it is vital for us to find ways of staying connected on an international level and, at the same time, to allow developments on the local level which fit the cultural and personal needs of our members. With the work of the Long Range Planning Task Force and our continuing commitment to TA values and activities, I believe we can establish the basis for worldwide cooperation among us and enjoy the personal and professional benefits which accrue from sharing our resources.

As Vice President, I will be especially invested in finding ways of inviting each of you to contribute your skills to the work we have ahead of us and to share the strokes and growth that come with active participation in committees, conferences, and work in your local communities. I look forward to serving you and encourage you to contact me with your ideas and offers of help.

Bruce Loria, EdD
Treasurer
Pemberton, New Jersey, USA

Thank you for electing me Treasurer for the next two years. It is a position from which I believe I can make a contribution to the ITAA, and thus far I find the work challenging and valuable. Having as dedicated and sincere a finance committee as we have makes the difficult work easier and more enjoyable. Therein lies one of the most valuable membership benefits I derive from the ITAA — having the opportunity to work with such quality people from around the world on projects that benefit all our members as well as our clients. I realize now that getting involved as a committee member in the running of our organization was a great step for me, one I encourage all members to consider.

I was first introduced to TA as a student and young Army lieutenant at the Department of Defense Race Relations Institute. I never realized then how a two-hour lecture on the three states of the ego would lead me to where I am now, twelve years later.

In closing, I ask that you not be content to sit in the audience and watch many exciting and meaningful changes take place within the ITAA. To define and accomplish our goals in transforming the ITAA into a truly representative and democratic international organization, we need the energy and talents of all of our members. Your decision to help will be personally and professionally rewarding, and one I doubt that you will ever regret.

Rosa Krausz, PhD
Secretary
Sao Paulo, Brazil

I am happy and honored to be elected ITAA Secretary. This is the first time a Latin American member has been elected an officer in ITAA; it is a clear demonstration of our internationality.

Our organization is at a very special moment in its growth. We are planning our future, and I hope to contribute to creating an even more responsive association, one sensitive to the needs and expectations of its members worldwide.

To me growing means sound theory, ethical and competent practice, effective communication, and enthusiastic participation. Let us grow together, giving each other potent permission and protection to be and to do.

On a more personal note, I was born and still live in Sao Paulo, Brazil. I am married and my daughter and son presently live overseas. I enjoy nature, orchids, traveling, reading, writing, music, and films.

President-Elect/Trustee Nominations Due

Remember: March 1 is the deadline to submit nominees for the Fall 1986 election of ITAA President-Elect and eight new trustees (one from Canada, two from Europe, five from USA). Send your nominations to Nominating Committee Chair Richard Erskine, 500 East 85th St., New York, NY 10028.

Valerie Batts, PhD
Region V (USA) Trustee
Richmond, Virginia, USA

Continuing to clarify how TA and ITAA can be vehicles for social action is my major agenda as I become a trustee. For example, as a USA member, I want to see ITAA work to help the US government end its financial support of South Africa's apartheid regime (apartheid = legalized segregation based on race).

I want us to impact large systems and for ITAA to be a model of a successful multicultural organization. We can use the shared assumptions of TA theory to begin that process and to create additional interpersonal and organizational strategies that recognize the diversity of our specific cultural identities.

I have energy to give and some specific agenda (in addition to US involvement in South Africa), including: strengthening the USATAA's work on social issues in the US and supporting other associations in such efforts, increasing awareness of the importance of taking into account cultural and other differences in clinical and special fields uses of TA and other forms of psychotherapy, and ending the threat of nuclear war.

As a Southern-born and bred Afro-American who grew up under the USA version of South African apartheid and who was "scripted" to fight it, I know my commitment to social change is partly an issue of personal survival. As a young adult I was lucky to run into a socially aware TA community which provided support and validation for the way I was translating "personal survival" into political action. I have provided such support for many other people in the past ten years and have seen numerous others do so. I know it is possible.

I believe ITAA is at an important crossroads. Will it become another tool for maintaining the status quo, or an active and vital alternative for healers of all persuasions who recognize the inherent connection between personal and community change? At the risk of sounding grandiose, I submit that we really do have to decide. I am excited about helping in that process.

Gender Issues Provide Dynamic Theme

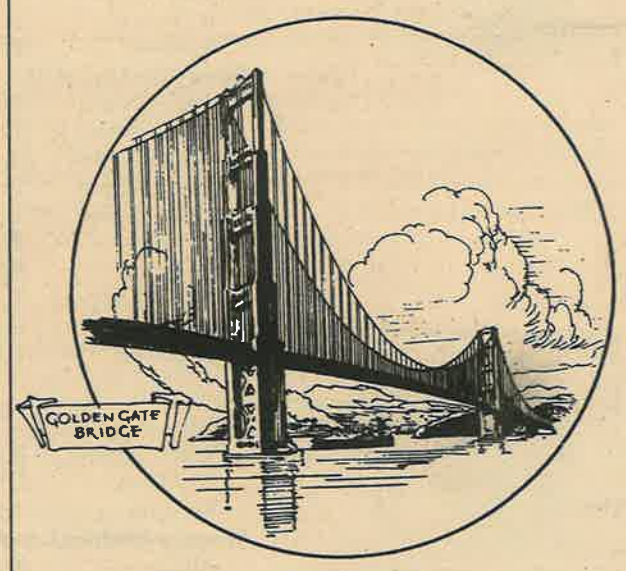
This year's Summer Conference program has been carefully chosen to offer participants a stimulating and challenging exploration of our theme — He/She/Us: TA Looks at Gender Issues.

Our keynote speaker, renowned Jungian analyst Jean Shinoda Bolen, MD, will open the conference on Thursday morning with a look at gender issues related to women. She will discuss how various internal archetypes help women define their femaleness at different times during the life cycle. Following Dr. Bolen's speech, there will be about a dozen theme workshops in which TA therapists will show what TA theory contributes to understanding both what it means to be male or female and how we can live together in harmony.

In addition to theme workshops, five advanced TA theory panels will focus on topics such as the Parent ego state, script and script cure, the therapeutic relationship, diagnosis and treatment planning, and management styles. Rounding out the program will be a blend of workshops, papers, and panels of interest to a broad spectrum of conference participants, including those involved in clinical, educational, and organizational issues, and those who are new to TA as well as those who are seasoned practitioners.

We on the Program Committee are especially excited about this San Francisco Conference program. The timely theme is relevant to many areas of practice, and it is already clear that the presentations will be of such high quality that they will stimulate discussion for years to come. You won't want to miss getting in on the beginning of this dialogue, so make sure your reservations are in early and join us in August at Summer Conference '86.

Brenda Bary, Chairperson, Program Committee



San Francisco Opens Golden Gates to ITAA

The Social Program for this year's Summer Conference promises to be one of the most varied and enjoyable ever, with the famous ambiance of San Francisco adding a special quality to each event. Just look at a few of the possibilities:

- Opening night dance and mixer
- A cruise around SF Bay, complete with dancing and a no-host bar
- A wine and cheese party at the lovely showplace mansion of ITAA Past President Jack Dusay and his wife Katherine
- An open house at the historic ITAA headquarters sponsored by the Teaching Members and guaranteed to offer surprises and fun for all
- A trip to the Eric Berne Seminar of San Francisco followed by a party/joke night in the Connector Room
- Closing Chinese banquet at a local restaurant and dance at the hotel

And, if that isn't enough to keep you busy, there are always a multitude of sights to see and things to do in the Bay Area, including dining at some of the best seafood and ethnic restaurants in the world.

All conferences are special, but this one . . . well, let's just say that if you've been to a Summer Conference in San Francisco before, you know what wonders await you. And if you haven't, you don't want to miss this chance to find out why people come back, time after time, to "Everyone's Favorite City." When ITAA comes to town in San Francisco, it's a combination you won't want to miss!

Encountering the Goddesses

In her keynote address, psychiatrist and Jungian analyst Jean Shinoda Bolen, MD, will introduce seven Greek goddesses who embody archetypal patterns of being and behaving in women. Women can be influenced by these archetypes both in terms of behavior and/or personality. Women may use them as a source of meaning and authenticity or as a means of creating symptoms.

Bolen, the author of Goddesses in Everywoman: A New Psychology of Women, suggests adding these goddess archetypes to the inner personalities familiar to transactional analysis. Archetypes add a deeper dimension, explain complexities and conflicts within women, and provide the basis for many interactions with others.

Dr. Bolen in Clinical Professor of Psychiatry at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco and Diplomate of the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology. She is also a member of the faculty of the C.G. Jung Institute in San Francisco and a nationally-known lecturer. Her other book is The Tao of Psychology: Synchronicity and the Self. In addition, she is founder and Co-Chair of Psychiatrists for the Equal Rights Amendment, a Board member of the MS. Foundation for Women and the American Orthopsychiatric Association, a past Chairperson of the Council on National Affairs of the American Psychiatric Association, and is currently active in Womens' Quest, a San Francisco Bay Area organization concerned with women and spirituality.

All-Day Seminar on AIDS

AIDS, or "Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome," will be the topic of a special Saturday all-day program during the August 1986 ITAA Conference. The purpose of the program, which is open to the public, is to provide current information, dispell myths about the disease, discuss psychosocial and psychotherapeutic aspects of AIDS, and encourage those attending to become actively involved in dealing with the problem in their own communities.

The program will begin with two panels in the morning. The first panel, titled "What is AIDS?", will present a physician who will provide an overview on AIDS epidemiology, the mechanics of transmission, methods of detection, and current treatments. He will be joined by a person with AIDS (PWA) who will share his personal experiences of diagnosis, treatment, and their social and personal impact. The second panel, "What Can We Do About AIDS?", will include an artist who has worked closely with a hospice and resource service for PWA's; an ITAA Certified Member who has worked with and will discuss both individual and group treatment with PWA's; and Michael Ward (co-coordinator of the program with Rosanne Lawson), who is on the Mental Health Subcommittee of the AIDS Action Committee/Boston and who runs an ongoing bereavement group for men who have lost partners to AIDS. Michael will discuss the personal and political impact of AIDS and offer options for community involvement.

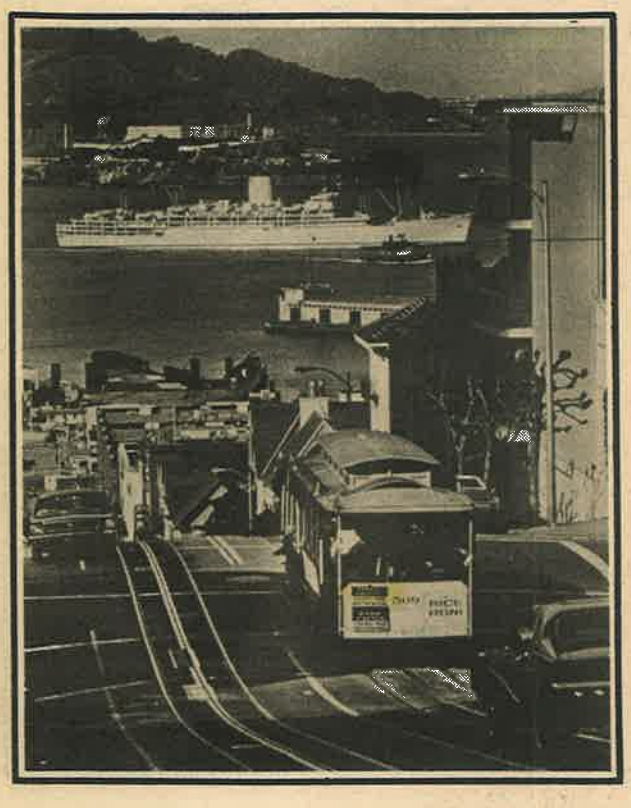
In the afternoon there will be a production of "The AIDS Show," a moving and often hilarious revue which seeks to educate as well as entertain. The day will end with small process groups in which participants in the day's program will have the opportunity to ask questions and deal with feelings.

Conference Hotel

The Cathedral Hills Hotel is adjacent to the Civic Center and only eight blocks away from Union Square, three blocks from the Cable Car line, and ten blocks from the ITAA headquarters building. A modern, eight-story hotel with 400 sound-proofed guest rooms, it is located only 20 miles from San Francisco International Airport (easy airport shuttle is available for $6, or there is free parking on site). For dining, entertainment, and recreational activities, guests will enjoy the restaurant, coffee shop, and cocktail lounge, as well as the roof-top pool and garden.

Alternate Low-Cost Accommodations

A limited number of simple dormitory rooms will be available at the University of San Francisco, Lone Mountain College campus, only two miles from the conference headquarters at the Cathedral Hills Hotel (an easy bus ride on San Francisco's excellent public transportation system). Rooms will be available from Tuesday through Saturday night, August 12-16, 1986 (five-night package). To reserve space, see the conference registration form.



President's Welcome

I want to personally invite you to take advantage of the superb personal and professional opportunities available at ITAA's Twenty-fourth Annual International Conference this coming August in San Francisco, the birthplace of ITAA.

International Participation - Because of the exciting scientific program, the beautiful San Francisco location, and the major organizational renewal going on right now in ITAA, delegates from TA associations worldwide will be joining numerous other international conference participants in attending this conference. Dozens of outstanding presentations will be given by professionals both from within and from outside ITAA, and there will be many opportunities for one-to-one interaction with people from different cultures and regions around the world.

AIDS Program - The tragedy of AIDS threatens the health and well-being of everyone in some way. As therapists, educators, counselors, organizational consultants, and health care providers, we have a responsibility to learn about the illness and to share how TA can be of value in helping people cope with fear, illness, and loss while still maintaining personal dignity and self-esteem. During this special day-long presentation, which is open to the entire community, various speakers and resource people will provide us with information and important perspectives on AIDS. Please plan to attend and to publicize the AIDS program to the individuals and networks you know that can benefit from the information and support that will be available.

Although we are planning a booklet of abstracts on conference presentations for those who are unable to attend, I am sure you will want to be there in person to participate in the full experience.

Lucy Freedman, President

Pre-Conference Institutes

Richard Erskine, PhD, in his institute for both clinical and special fields practitioners entitled "Comparative Structural and Transactional Analysis Theory," will present a comprehensive comparative study of diverse theoretical ideas and viewpoints on ego states and the analysis of transactions. Various TA models will be compared with the work of Paul Federn and contrasted with ego psychology, psychoanalysis, behavioral therapy, and developmental theory. Dr. Erskine is Training Director of the Institute for Integrative Psychotherapy in New York City and co-winner of the 1982 Eric Berne Memorial Scientific Award.

Martin Groder, MD, will give an institute entitled "Treatment of Character Disorders," a concise presentation of the classical Asklepieion material on the treatment of character disorders in various settings. Dr. Groder is in private practice in Chapel Hill, North Carolina, and formerly served as Vice-President and Board of Trustees member in ITAA.

Robert Miller, PhD, in his experiential institute, "Exploring Basic Assumptions About Changing Organizations," will have participants use ITAA's purpose statement to design an organization that meets the needs outlined in the statement and other individual needs while still achieving organizational goals such as survival, profitability, and long-term growth. Dr. Miller has twenty years experience as a management consultant, trainer, researcher, and manager in the USA and Europe. He will be joined by associate Jaime Jusidman.

Francis Vaughan, PhD, will present "The Inward Arc: Accessing Inner Wisdom for Healing in Psychotherapy." She will focus on methods of self-healing for therapists and clients. Experiential exercises for healing ourselves and our relationships will emphasize accessing inner guidance for healing the heart of the therapist. Dr. Vaughan is in private practice in Mill Valley, California. She has authored many books and articles and was formerly President of the Association for Transpersonal Psychology.

Special Events

Men's and Women's Caucuses — The caucuses will both meet on Thursday, with the Women's Caucus meeting continuing into the afternoon. In addition, in keeping with the conference theme, "He/She/Us," and at the request of the Women's Caucus, there will be a combined Men's and Women's (Us) Caucus meeting on Saturday at lunch.

Couples' Conversation Hours — Two or three intimate conversation hours will be scheduled with TA couples who will discuss how TA has impacted on their individual lives and on their relationship.

Supervision Switchboard —Qualified supervisors will donate one or more supervision hours at a nominal fee; anyone wanting supervision can sign up for an hour with the supervisor of their choice. (Proceeds from the Switchboard will probably be donated to ITAA.)

TA 101 - On Monday and Tuesday, August 11 and 12, Frances Bonds-White will present the introductory course in transactional analysis, TA 101. Those who complete the course are eligible to become Regular (voting) Members in ITAA and to pursue training toward certification as a Transactional Analyst. To register, see registration form below.

United Air Lines Offers Discounts

United Air Lines, ITAA's official carrier for this summer's conference, is offering members 5% off any of its published fares, including UltraSaver fares (all restrictions apply). To make reservations, call United toll-free (800-521-4041, M-F 8:30am-9pm EST) and give ITAA's account number (6015N). United will provide information on all flights and fares, and you may have tickets mailed to you or purchase them through your travel agent. Seats are limited, so call early.

Translation

Volunteer translators will provide informal translation for workshops and speeches whenever possible. French translation will definitely be provided, and Spanish and Japanese translation may also be available. Please indicate your need for translation services on your registration form.

"An Important Evolutionary Link In Human Beings' Management Of Themselves... Wonderfully Human and Engaging."

VIRGINIA SATIR

New — an imaginative book to help you manage stress in your personal, family, social and business life.

"Their model is a remarkable synthesis of how we function as humans, how we can conceptualize our problems and stress, how a number of separate psychological and philosophical theories can be seen as fitting together into a larger whole, and, by implication, how we can change."

—James R. Allen, M.D.
Medical Director,
Tulsa Psychiatric Center

. . . Integrates all of the major schools of Transactional Analysis as well as the writings of the Eric Berne Memorial Award winners into a single theoretically valid and clinically useful diagram . . . Weds the Medical Model of Pathology with the Holistic Model of Well-Being. . .

"I like your manuscript very, very much. I think it is intriguing for the lay reader and also is a good book for therapists to use with their clients. Very imaginative! I like your style."

William Cornell, MA
Region V (USA) Trustee
Gibsonia, Pennsylvania, USA

I want to thank the ITAA membership for electing me to the Board of Trustees at this time in the organization's development. My primary purpose in serving on the Board right now is to facilitate the work of the Long Range Planning Task Force for International Reorganization. It is my hope that the ITAA Board, our members worldwide, and TA associations around the world will find the recommendations of the Task Force a significant contribution to making the ITAA a truly international organization. I also believe it is crucial for ITAA during the next three years to establish a financial base that is broader and includes non-dues income so we can provide a wider range of services to members around the world.

Concepcion de Diego, PhD
Region III (Europe) Trustee
Madrid, Spain

I am greatly honored to be one of the representatives of the European region on the Board. Thank you to those who elected me.

This election gives me the opportunity to work in something I am interested in and enjoy. I care about ITAA and its expanding future worldwide. I will be involved as a psychologist and a TA professional, for giving information to national and regional associations and individual members about ITAA and TA theory and practice in the mental health field.

I am available to give information to Spanish-speaking TA practitioners worldwide. I welcome your letters letting me know your needs, wishes, and goals so I can present them to ITAA. Knowing each other's needs and goals allows us to work together to find ways of achieving them.

Muriel James, EdD
Region V (USA) Trustee
Lafayette, California, USA

I believe there is a healthy, creative power in the ITAA that is capable of effecting important changes — in the lives of individuals and in many organizations on this planet Earth. It is relatively easy to effect change in individuals; it is more difficult to effect change in organizations.

Successful change in an organization such as ours always requires a high willingness to cooperate, and I believe we are continually growing in the attitudes and skills that cooperation requires. This willingness is based on the awareness that no person or group of persons is likely to have all the truth and that what is important to one may be of little relevance to another.

Our growing cooperation is sometimes expressed in meetings when, for example, we listen to each other's values and opinions that are verbalized as well as listen to those which are not.

Cooperation is also experienced when we are able to share our thoughts and dreams and values and be listened to in return. Sometimes this kind of dialogue is difficult, especially if there is a high level of emotional involvement in a particular issue or there are conflicting agendas or if time is running short or if we are not interested in the other person or the other person's ideas or if they are not interested in ours. And so it goes!

Yet, in spite of the frustrations, change happens when energy is released — collectively as well as individually. Change happens when people address themselves to the basic problems of humanity and existence and to the less basic yet important tasks of using organizations to create a healthier world where life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness is an everyday option.

I have been active in the ITAA since it was first formed. I am not "excited" over being back on the Board as I well know the time and energy that it requires. Yet I am deeply glad for your votes of confidence and will serve you as best I can with love and commitment.

Barton Knapp, PhD
Region V (USA) Trustee
Newtown, Pennsylvania, USA

I am greatly honored to have the opportunity to serve you and ITAA as a trustee. I have been an ITAA member for twelve years, and during that time I have participated in several different aspects of the organization, including the Program Committee and the TAJ Editorial Board. This election, a major step for me in an organization of which I am proud to be a member, opens new vistas for me.

I look forward with excitement, mingled with some trepidation, to this experience. I will contribute my ideas, skill, and energies to the growth of ITAA. I believe TA has not yet attained its merited position as a theory and an approach to growth and change. I look forward to helping bring TA its deserved professional recognition.

I need your help, ideas, feedback, and support.

Robin Maslen, MAASW
Region I (Australia) Trustee
Hove, Australia

I am glad to be accepted as a Board member, and I thank those of you who voted for me.

After thirteen years in ITAA, I think the time and my personal circumstances are right for me to help on the international level, just as I helped to develop TA in Australia.

I am a social worker who has risen up through the ranks to become a senior manager in South Australian government departments. Over the past five years I have become more involved in my private practice as a management consultant, helping government and private organizations — particularly those in crisis or undergoing changes — to develop their human relationship skills and to find new directions. I still do clinical work and provide certified training. I am interested in challenges and in joining different ideas together.

I look forward to using my experience, knowledge, and skills in organizational and clinical change to help ITAA develop effective organizational structures and communications. I want to work to increase the possibility for more people in the world to share in the special body of TA friendships, knowledge, values, and skills training.

Ronald Ohlson, PhD
Region V (USA) Trustee
Anchorage, Alaska, USA
(No statement received)

Kaspar Wolfensberger, MD
Region III (Europe) Trustee
Zurich, Switzerland

I am grateful and proud to have been elected to the ITAA Board of Trustees.

I have been involved with TA for the past decade and a member of ITAA for eight years. Currently, I also serve on the Board of the German-speaking Swiss TA Association (DSRTA) and as a delegate to the overall Swiss TA Association (ASPAT). I am the founder and leader of a training program in humanistic psychotherapy that involves many leading TA trainers from Europe and the USA.

I am forty-three years old, married, and the father of a girl and boy in pre-school. My wife and children rank first in my engagements and interests. A year ago we returned from California where we spent a wonderful and enriching sabbatical in Palo Alto. Back in Switzerland, I have been in private practice as a psychiatrist and psychotherapist in Zurich for a year. As a psychotherapist, my background and interests include, in addition to TA, Gestalt therapy, family and brief therapy, and Ericksonian hypnosis and therapy.

I want TA to remain open to new ideas as well as to critique, to maintain its high professional standards, and to become even more efficient as an international professional organization by providing clear guidelines while delegating more responsibilities to regional organizations.
